

Order attested with the official seal of Colonel
Mirza Muhammad Khan Khair Sultan
Bahadur, dated 9th June 1857

To—The Officers and Subadars of the Army.

May health and safety attended you. As the troops which have been fighting here for their religion have, through the blessing of God, been completely victorious, you are hereby directed, provided you still continue firm in your religious tenets, to come here at once, for you will richly rewarded by the Government, and will besides preserve your religion and creed. It is confidently expected that the English will be all killed wherever they may be. As for this place, not a single Englishman has been left. The King is now established on his throne. He has done every thing to keep your brethren of the army contented and satisfied, and has bestowed rewards on them.
