PARIS, August 22.

The Constitutionnel of to-day publishes an article which, after declaring that the French flag will not recede before any menaces, says:—"But to crush the fools who would not stop before the flag which has given freedom to Italy might be a painful necessity imposed by honour, but it would not be a solution."

"The military question would not settle the political question."

The Paris journals of this evening say:—"Orders have been sent to the squadron of evolution in the Mediterranean to return to Toulon, where it will remain at the disposition of the Government. The reason for this order is the state of affairs in Italy."

TURIN, Aug. 22.

The Official Gazette of to-day publishes the following report addressed by the Ministers to the King:—"General Garibaldi has raised the standard of rebellion. Your Majesty's name and that of Italy serve only to veil the intentions of European demagogues. The cries of 'Rome or Death' are senseless insults to our glorious ally and retard the only possible accomplishment of our unanimous wishes. As General Garibaldi remains deaf to your voice and unmoved by the thought of lighting up civil war, energetic action has become necessary. The rebellion of Garibaldi imposes upon us the necessity of treating the country occupied by volunteers as a country occupied or threatened by an enemy. We therefore advise your Majesty to proclaim a state of siege. The Ministry accepts the responsibility of this measure."

CENTRAL CRIMINAL COURT.—YESTERDAY.

James Macroft Osbourn, a respectable-looking man, pleaded guilty to a charge of misdemeanour in having unlawfully appropriated certain stock to the amount of £2,300 standing in the books of the Bank of England, and of which he was trustee. Mr. Atkinson, who appeared for the prisoner, urged in his behalf that he had formerly filled a very respectable position, and that confinement had had such an effect upon him as almost to amount to aberration of mind. A sum of £700 was found upon him when he was taken into custody. Mr. Justice Williams said it appeared to him to be a very bad case, and that there was no circumstance of mitigation whatever connected with it. He felt that it was his duty to make an example of the prisoner, and he should, therefore, sentence him to three years' penal servitude.

POLICE.—YESTERDAY.

At Worship-street yesterday, Alfred Gleave, aged twenty-one, was charged before Mr. Leigh with having, on his own confession, caused the death of Susan Dimmock, by shooting her. It appeared that about midnight, on Thursday, two young women were walking near to the Dalton toll-gate, when one—Susan Dimmock—was shot and died almost immediately. Gleave, directly afterwards gave himself up to the police as the person who had shot the poor girl. He declared, however, that he did it accidentally. The keeper of the toll-house had loaded a pistol and laid it on a table. Gleave, who was on friendly terms with him, went into the house, took up the pistol, and going outside fired it off with fatal effect. He said he did not know it was loaded. He was committed for trial.

Yesterday Constance Wilson, alias Catherine Taylor, was again brought up at Lambeth Police-court for further and final examination, on the charges of causing the deaths by poison of Mrs. Mary Soames and Mrs. Ann Atkinson. The evidence against the prisoner having been completed, she was committed on both charges for trial at the September session at the Central Criminal Court.
