REVIEW OF THE BRITISH CORN TRADE DURING THE PAST WEEK.

The wheat trade this week has lost its buoyancy, yet without any real decline. In the absence of exalting causes, a gradual and moderate amendment can be expected, as old stocks continue good, and many are still ready to part with their new samples. The long drought in Ireland seriously reducing the crop of oats, must limit the shipment of that grain this season, and help to increase the demand for Indian corn. However, the recent rains have surprisingly revived the grass lands, and re-
